Messrs. R. W. H. Pinkney, W. H. Chappell and G. A. Vissae were re-elected members of the board of directors for a term of three years. P. C. Montalbetti was re-appointed auditor "at the same salary and to be paid in a similar manner as formerly."

In recognition of his services as secretary and manager for the past two years, substantial honours; accompanied by a hearty vote of thanks, was accorded Mr. Gray.

Following the adjournment of this meeting, the board of directors met to consider the engagement of an ice man. Mr. Jones Ringland, of Macleod, being chosen, his work to commence at once.

We understand that Mr. Ringland will arrive to enter upon his duties tomorrow morning and it is hoped to have ice for skating and hockey practice early next week.

ELKS' BIRTHDAY PARTY

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25th

The wives and sweethearts of all Elks are asked to bear with them on the evening of November the 25th if they should step out a little too far in celebration of the founding of the local lodge. A committee has been appointed and a most elaborate affair is promised, in which the ladies themselves will be welcome participants.

Further announcements will be made.

CATHOLIC BAZAAR

TUESDAY NEXT

The annual bazaar under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League will be held in the Moose Hall on Tuesday next, November the 15th. Tea will be served from 3 to 6, during which time the sale of fancy work, home cooking, etc., will be in progress.

As usual, the fish pond for the kiddies will again be a big feature, and your money's worth is promised with every cast. Don't bother about a 1927 fishing license, just come along and fish.

ELKS' COMMUNITY

CHRISTMAS TREE TO BE HELD DECEMBER 21

The kiddies of Blairstmore and district will be very interested to know that the Elks have decided to continue the popular practice of extending a Christmas Tree, and that the big event will take place this year on the evening of Wednesday, December the 21st.

Parents are asked to as early as possible hand in to the secretary of the Elks the names of all children between the ages of 2 and 11, inclusive. The tree this year will embody the same territory as last year.

Fred Towell, who was with Bellevue Hockey Club for a few seasons, has gone to Portland, where he will play in Bobby Rowe's city league for the second season.

Members of the local teaching staff who had been in attendance at the annual teachers' convention at Lethbridge, returned the early part of the week. They report a well-attended and most interesting and successful session.

ARMISTICE-THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT BELLEVUE

A beautiful and impressive Armistice-Thanksgiving service was held in the United church, at Bellevue, on Sunday. A large and appreciative crowd filled the auditorium and church parlor and followed the entire service with great interest.

Mr. George Goodwin's sounding of "The Last Post" was wonderful and will not soon be forgotten by the audience. Mr. Arthur Hadwell's magnificent voice thrilled the gathering as he rendered "The Trumpeter," accompanied by Miss Hazel McDonald at the piano and Mr. Goodwin assisting with the trumpet. The choir, ably led by Mr. Watts Goodwin, rendered "Hark, Hark My Soul" (H. R. Shelley). The beautiful story to the young people and the sermon, "Peace and a Cross," both delivered by the pastor, Rev. John L. Wright, were splendidly appropriate and thoroughly enjoyed.

The church was fittingly decorated and a large number of local war veterans occupied the front seats and reverently remembered the comrades sleeping under the poppies. Mrs. Currie presided at the organ.

ARMISTICE-THANKSGIVING SERVICES WELL ATTENDED

A large audience attended the Orpheum theatre on Monday forenoon for the annual public Armistice-Thanksgiving service.

The chair was occupied by Mayor J. H. Farmer, supported by officials of the L.O.D.E. and C.L. B.E.S.L. In addition to accompanying the various hymns, the Hillcrest orchestra rendered several appropriate selections.

Following a very able address by Rev. T. W. Smith, pastor of the United church, and the Roll Call, by President Ed. Royle, of the Blairstmore Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., "The Last Post" was sounded by Mr. George Goodwin, of Bellevue.

At the conclusion of the service, a vote of thanks was accorded the chairman, the various speakers and the orchestra for attendance and assistance.

The Sunday night service at the United church also took the form of Thanksgiving and Memorial and was very largely attended and impressive.

ELKS' MEMORIAL SERVICE

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 4th

The local lodge of Elks will hold their annual memorial service in the Elks' Hall on Sunday, December the 4th, at 3:30 p.m. The usual good programme will be provided.

The Strathmore town council has taken out insurance policies covering firemen.

The civil action brought by the provincial treasury against George P. Smith, former minister of education, for the recovery of $5280, alleged to have been paid out in 1921 for "printing not done," has been dismissed by Mr. Justice Hyndman.

The Enterprise has been extending a lot of free publicity for some years past, all in the best interest of the community and its varied worthwhile enterprises. As robberies are common in Alberta right now, and we anticipate a pay-day soon, it is our desire that information as to the date of that pay-day should be kept secret.

On behalf of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., and the L.O.D.E. I wish to heartily thank Rev. J. W. Smith, Mayor J. H. Farmer and the Hillcrest Orchestra for the respective parts they took in the annual Thanksgiving-Memorial Service on Thanksgiving Day, also Mr. Ptacek for the use of his theatre in which the service was held.—Ed. Royle, president Blairstmore Branch of the Canadian Legion.

The Ladies' Aid of the Bellevue United church will hold their annual sale of work on Monday, November 28th, in the church gymnasium. Keep the date open.

The regular monthly meeting of the L.O.D.E. will be held on Monday, November the 14th, at 7:30 p.m., in the Greenhill hotel. All members are requested to be present.

Says Marriage Prolongs Life

Wives Live Longer Than Single Women Declares Actuary

Married women live longer than single women, according to the British Government Actuary, Sir Alfred Watson.

In a report on life tables based on the population as returned in the 1921 census, and on the average number of deaths recorded in the three years 1920-22, rates of mortality for single, married and widowed women show that the advantage lies with the married woman.

At the youngest ages for which comparison was possible the highest rates were those for single women. Rates for single and married women differed but slightly between the ages of 24 and 27. But thereafter the rates for married women were markedly lower than those of single women or widows, while rates for widows were invariably heavier than those for single women or wives.

Helmi carefully studied her ticket—a pale mauve strip of paper with a yellow back, on which were strange words. She saw the names Saskatoon, Edmonton and Eagle Mine. Evidently this last was their destination. Mrs. St. John told her she was going to be lonely for the months when a lot of men worked in mines. Mrs. St. John had heard her husband speak of it, she said. Helmi shrugged her shoulders doubtfully. A mine where a lot of men worked did not sound very attractive. It would mean that she would have to cook, scrub bare floors, wash blue cups with ugly tea stains, and have no good times at all. She would rather stay in the city, where she would find a girls' club, go to suppers in basements, and play basket-ball in schoolyards, and see lovely dresses in shop windows, and eat ice-cream cones, and perhaps have another chance at night school; then on Sundays she would go to church and hear a lovely organ with a sweet religious sound, and perhaps the night before go to a dance.

“I think you're right, Aunt Edith,” advised and faithfully said it over and over again—“Leave men alone—they break your heart.” She was determined that she would always remember her this. Girls were best, nice girls like Lucy Powers and Hattie. She wished now that she could write Lucy and Hattie and tell them everything, but Mrs. St. John had warned her to write no letters. The City's Friendly would try to find her and bring her back, so she must give them no clue. It was a big disgrace for them to lose a girl, and they would set the police after her. Helmi shuddered when she thought of the police and the angry, red-faced old man who glared so fiercely at her in the police court. Still it certainly did not seem right to run away without a word to Miss Able and the girls—what oh! It was great to be free! The joy of life and living enfolded her so closely as she journeyed that there was no room for resentment in her heart. At this dis-

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mining, Ontario.—“I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all women. For three months I was almost helpless and could not sit at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is what I had to eat. I would be so weak. Then he read in the paper of a woman suffering as I did, and got better with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so he went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a new woman and have been well ever since. What I feel are bearing down pains I always take it; sometimes a half bottle or whatever I need. It is my secret and I will tell you about one about it. Any one wanting to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will gladly write to me. I will send you a sample if I feel I owe my life and strength to it.”—Mrs. Neal Bowens, R.R. 1, Maddington, Ont.

Do you feel nervous and anxious sometimes? Do you have this horrid feeling of fear which sometimes comes to women with the desire to get rid of it?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition.

tance she could even think tolerantly of the Wyndams. She could not bear some day a walk with Lucy and pay off the Girls' Friendly house and run it herself. The first thing she had to do would be to burn off the girls' uniforms and give every girl a new dress—pink, blue, mauve, and beige, according to their tastes—and she would drive a little car and take the girls riding with her in turns. They would tell her all their troubles.

Bubbling up like the air, Helmi's dreams came the joyous consciousness of freedom. She remembered the day she had watched the birds in Mrs. St. John's garden—that lovely September day of amber sunshine so long ago now. She remembered the dainty yellow birds in the pretty gold cages, with the little throats gurgling with music, singing to their little wild cousins, dark in color, harsh of voice, but free! Pilgrims of the upper air were they, who knew no law but their own desires; and now she was free too, just like the wild canaries, who had escaped from this gang of mine, where I could wallop them in peace without having folks stare at me. But ain't it the way of the world? That there has gotta! People with big families have small houses; people in big houses have none at all. It sure does seem strange—but what can a person do? Maude, I'll lay you cold if you don't stop teasing the baby.”

When Helmi was on her way back to the family in a state of extraordinary commotion, Charley, the five-year-old, was getting into trouble again, as he was method known as “spit-wash” the young man objecting acutely, not to the method alone, but to the whole basic principle. In addition to her operations on Charley the mother was trying to quell the riot that had broken out between Maude and the baby over the finding of a nut-bar in the general tumult of coats, hats, oranges, bags and toys which were wedged in between the children on the seat. “Maude, stop! Don't take it from him—let him eat it!” The baby had the nut-bar, Maude hollered with roaring, Maude had to roar if she were to be heard above the family clatter. “Oh, leave him alone while he's good!” cried the mother desirably. “Let me have his moment's peace when it makes him stop! I'll give him eel oil to night. Stop! Sit with Charley or I'll lay cold!” Then it was that Helmi forgot her instructions, forgot that she was a fugitive from the law—she only knew that here were people who needed a friendly hand of the sort that she could supply.

What is wrong with the tea? If this question is ever asked at the table you may find that the tea you are using was in a poor package. Careful experiments have proven that Aluminum is the only fit package to keep good tea in. You should try Red Rose Tea and see how fresh and brisk and pungent it is in the Aluminum package.

In the drawing-room all alone, it seemed to have about it a proud airiness, with its own little washroom and towels, and abundance of room, while the car outside was crowded. It fluttered her, too, to notice the attractive young men, though she was not enough to connect it with the generous tip which she knew Mrs. St. John had given him, cherishing in him thereby that gratitude which shades pleasure into appreciation.

Mrs. St. John had told her that when she went for her meal it would be well to carry a book—a book keeps chance acquaintances at a distance, for it plainly means “Keep away!” can't you see I'm occupied?”—and just now conversation was not desirable. Helm's Finnish accent might betray her. All these instructions, hurriedly given though they were on the way to the station were strictly obeyed. She remembered to walk languidly, tip generously and betray no open interest in her surroundings. It was well to let her fellow travellers think that travelling was an old tiresome business, and when she yawned she patted her mouth gently.

A tired mother with a swarm of sticky children occupied a double seat half-way down the car. When Helmi stepped on the drawing-room and passed them on her way to the diner, the woman looked after her curiously.

“I hope that girl knows when she's well off!” she said. “Gosh! It's me that ought to have that place to myself with this gang of mine, where I could wallop them in peace without having folks stare at me. But ain't it the way of the world? That there has gotta!”

The train came to a standstill at the station, and the baby over the finding of a nut-bar in the general tumult of coats, hats, oranges, bags and toys which were wedged in between the children on the seat. “Maude, stop! Don't take it from him—let him eat it!”

The baby had the nut-bar, Maude hollered with roaring, Maude had to roar if she were to be heard above the family clatter. “Oh, leave him alone while he's good!” cried the mother desirably. “Let me have his moment's peace when it makes him stop! I'll give him eel oil to night. Stop! Sit with Charley or I'll lay cold!”

Then it was that Helmi forgot her instructions, forgot that she was a fugitive from the law—she only knew that here were people who needed a friendly hand of the sort that she could supply.

W. J. BARTLETT, PUBLISHER

Blairmore, Alta., Thur., Nov. 10, 1927

The following is clipped from "Some Intimate Sketches of Alberta Publishers" contained in a little magazine published in Winnipeg: "I never miss reading The Blairmore Enterprise, but I'm wondering how Six-Foot-Four Bartlett is getting along since he got married. His paper's column used to team with misogynistic ideas."

BLAIRMORE BOY SOUNDS
"LAST POST" AT MED. HAT

The following is clipped from the Medicine Hat Times:

"Every new movement starts with an idea and if we pledge ourselves to the idea of peace—an ideal conceived in the travail of the trenches—peace will come to the world," declared Rev. W. C. Weston during his sermon on Sunday on the occasion of the annual church parade of the Canadian Legion to St. Barnabas church. The veterans lined up at the clubroom, headed by the Canadian Legion pipe band and Comrade Keal, carrying the Union Jack, and proceeded to the church. At the conclusion of the service, preceded and followed by the beating of muffled drums, the "Last Post" was sounded by Trumpeter Major W. J. Evans."

Trumpeter Evans is a Blairmore boy, son of Mrs. W. O. Evans, and now agent at the Hat for the Metropolitan Life Assurance Co.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. H. C. Morrison spent Thanksgiving in Calgary.

Threshing has been held up here again on account of a foot of new-fallen snow.

Mrs. B. O. Morrow, of Lethbridge accompanied by her small daughter, is renewing old acquaintances in the district.

On Friday, November the 18th, the Cowley Women's Institute will put on a whist drive and miscellaneous sale in the form of a grab-box.

Our teachers, Mr. Browne and Miss Crowe, attended the convention at Lethbridge last week-end. Consequently the children had a holiday until Tuesday morning.

Miss Martha Tustian, who was operated upon for appendicitis in Hillcrest recently, has returned home. She recovered from the operation wonderfully well and is able to be around now.

Rev. Mr. Griffith has organized a children's choir, to be connected with the United church services. Choir practice will be held every Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in the church, with Mrs. Griffith as leader and Mrs. Bouillier at the organ.

A very attentive audience congregated at the United church on Sunday evening to hear the lecture (illustrated by lantern slides) on his life among the Indians, by Rev. Eoy Taylor, of Hillcrest. The lecture was delivered in a very impressive manner and held the undivided attention of the listeners to the end.

A special meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. M. A. Murphy on Wednesday night for the purpose of making final arrangements to entertain the ladies of this constituency in conference on Monday. This conference of the Institute was to have been held on October the 4th, but was postponed on account of a case of infantile paralysis in the district, and will now be held on November 14th at 1 p.m.

Serve the Church that the Church may serve you.

ership of Mr. Dickens, the choir leader. It is earnestly requested of the parents that they will permit the children to practise during the coming week.

EVENING WORSHIP at 7.30. A hearty invitation is given to all, young or otherwise, to attend the evening worship. The Church is always well filled and you are sure of a welcome. The subject for Sunday evening, "The Rent We Pay for Our Room on Earth," is especially a young-people's message, but it is an inspiring theme for all.

Church. These meetings for young people are educational, entertaining, as well as devotional. Come once, studies on the Lord's Prayer was completed. In the near future Mr.

Smith will begin a new series of talk on the general subject, "Finding God." Each evening the life story of some man or woman who has found God will be told, with the hope that we may discover the secret of their life and power with God. Further announcements will be made shortly.
Rev. Mr. Taylor, of Hillcrest, will be present next Wednesday and give an illustrated lecture on his work among the Indians in Canada.

SATURDAY, November 12th—The ested in the leadership of Boys and miss these study sessions. The public are invited. Morning session, 10

7.30 to 9.

SUNDAY, November 20th.—Someone said the other day: "There will be a thousand people in the opera house for Children's Day." Well, we would hardly like to prophecy a crowd that big, but if there are a thousand people there, there will be a thousand people who will have a most inspiring Sunday. It is exactly what it says—"Children's Day." They will take part in the services, which will be crowded with special musical items.
The whole morning and afternoon schools and senior choir are uniting to form a massed choir of about 150 to 175 strong. Afternoon service begins at 2.30, evening service at 7.30.

A Good Deed

It was our pleasure, says a writer in a New York paper, to meet with the boy Scout spirit, fully matured, aboard a Long Island train recently. At one of the stations the gentleman seated in front of us accidentally dropped a glove out the window just as the train started to move out. Without a moment's hesitation he tossed the other one after it. Moved by curiosity, we dropped all reserve to ask him why he had done so. He courteously explained that the old glove he had remained would have done little no good; nor would the new glove have done the damage worse. This being the case, he had tossed out the other, so that the finger might have a complete set again.

The viewpoint and line of conduct of this man might well serve as an object lesson to many, adding contentment in their own lives and conferring benefits on others. The average person, it would be feared, would have grumbled and complained his loss—small though it be—and generally made himself and possibly others miserable for a time, and all to no end. But the hero of this little incident, which might have passed unnoticed, enjoyed a brighter outlook on life and a finer conception of things generally. He had sustained a loss which, under the circumstances existing, could not be restored. He realized on the instant that he must accept that loss. His immediate thought was as to how his loss could be turned to somebody else's gain.

If in family and community life and activities the spirit displayed by this unknown man became the inspiration of our thought and the guiding motive of our actions, how much happier this old world would become. What contentment of spirit and real joy in living would be experienced by those who adopted and followed such a policy of unselfishness, resulting in an inner gain of satisfaction far outweighing the outward and material loss sustained.

Such a spirit and code of conduct costs nothing, and how much more satisfactory all round it would be than to usually followed in which a loser determines that if he must lose, or has lost, he will at least have the satisfaction—poor though it be—that nobody shall be the gainer thereby.

There are people no doubt who are inclined to belittle and scoff at the insistence with which members of the Boy Scout organization are taught to be watchful for opportunity for helping others in order that they may do at least one good turn a day. But if such people would strive for just one week to emulate these Scouts and do good turns to others, they would quickly discover what a simple and joyful thing real lives while at the same time happiness and gaiety would be conferred on others.

The people of Canada have just observed a day of National Thanksgiving and in a few weeks all Christendom will be joyously celebrating the happiest day in all the year, Christmas. Many may have sustained losses and suffered defeats in the matters that are passed without making the slightest effort to extract such profit as they could from their loss and without turning defeat into ultimate victory. Possibly they are still bemoaning the sad fate which overtook them, feeling sorry for themselves, and declaring that luck is against them. Such an attitude will avail nothing; it merely makes for further discontent, discouragement, and additional failure and loss. Such an attitude is taking the joy out of their own future lives and making for unhappiness and misery for others.

Let the dead past bury its dead. Forget your losses and disappointments except as they can be capitalized to realize future gains, if not for yourself, then for somebody else. In the long run this will mean gain for you.

Decorate Nelson Monument

Custom Observed On Anniversary Of Historic Victory

On the anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar, the monument to Lord Nelson in Trafalgar Square, as is customary on this date, was bedecked with laurels. Nowadays the monument has become a sort of cenotaph for wreaths placed there to honor the sailors buried beneath the waves in the Great War.

Nelson's flagship Victory, which is now permanently drydocked at Portsmouth, still is undergoing restoration. Her topmasts and spars have not yet been replaced, so Nelson's famous slogan, "England expects that every man will do his duty," flew from the nearby signal mast.

At the dinner given by the Navy League Earl Beatty, former Admiral of the fleet and First Sea Lord, proposed a toast to "The Immortal Memory of Lord Nelson." Earl Beatty was supported in the toast by the oldest living admiral, the Hon. Sir Edmund Robert Fremantle, who is in his 92nd year.

Standard Too High

Author Receives Courtesy Rejection Slip From Chinese Publishers

John K. Williamson of Detroit, who is staying in London, has received the prize rejection slip of Chinese publishers. "We read your manuscript with boundless delight," wrote the Chinese firm. "By the sacred ashes of our ancestors we swear that we have never dipped into a book of such overwhelming mastery. If we were to publish this book it would be impossible in the future to issue any book of a lower standard. As it is unthinkable that such a child as yourself should be able to equal us, we are, to our great regret, compelled to return this too divine work and beg you a thousand times to forgive our action."

Leads in Electrical Exports

Britain Sets New Record For Orders Last Year

Britain is now the leading export country in the world for electrical equipment. Orders secured by electrical manufacturers for generating plants and household electrical equipment during the twelve months ended June last, constitute a new record in the history of the industry. "British Industries," the official organ of the Federation of British Industries, states that in the first six months of the year British firms booked contracts aggregating a higher plant capacity than during the whole of 1924 or 1925. India, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, South America and Japan were the principal buyers.

Fokker Foresees Millions of Planes

Aviation is Great Factor For Peace Says Designer and Builder

A million or more planes blacken the air over America, from flying planes, in which the young man can take his sweetheart for a ride in a dual control side-by-side cockpit, to giant multimotored air transports, were pictured by Anthony H. G. Fokker, at a luncheon of the Netherlands Chamber of Commerce of New York.

Mr. Fokker said the development of commercial flying was closely linked with military aviation and that the nations of Europe had realized this. The subsidies granted to air transport lines in Europe for commercial purposes, he said, were part of the same preparation plan for future wars whereby pilots would be trained and fields, hangars and workshops provided for future military use.

"Aviation is the cheapest and most efficient method for killing people," Mr. Fokker said. "In a city like New York bombing planes loaded with bombs could destroy a million persons absolutely without fail. So important aviation will be as an offensive weapon in another war and so great is the range of planes that the safest place for men will be the front line trenches."

The designer suggested that aviation was a factor for peace by its very deadliness as a potential weapon of offense.

"Men are not so likely to start a war or to help keep one going," he said, "when they realize that nowhere can they find safety for themselves. The man who stays away from the front to manufacture shells and guns on war contracts will be in more danger than the man at the front."

Weathers Four Decades

Early Day Traction Engine Is Still In Working Order

After having lain discarded on the edge of a grain field near Stevenson, Wash., for forty years an early-day traction engine was steamed up recently and found equal to its task. The engine is an old H.P. type and with other farm machinery came from a factory at Leeds, England, in 1856.

The farmer who first owned the then populous machine failed to make wheat pay and abandoned the engine. For some reason the engine was never tampered with and weathered the four decades without injury. As a useful article the old-time engine is nil, for it burns wood and uses axle grease in the bearings.

An Oil That Is Famous. — Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name spread to Central America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far ahead enough to attract its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

The Least Excitement Made Her Heart Palpitate and Flutter

Mrs. Ambrose Orser, Elizabethtown, Ont., writes:—"I suffered for some time with a bad heart which seemed to be controlled by my nerves. The least little excitement would cause it to flutter at times. At times I would have real bad spells. I suffered in this way for some time when, one day, I saw

HAS NO FEAR OF TROUBLE FROM FOREIGN MENACE

Ottawa—Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Prime Minister of Saskatchewan, does not see eye to eye with Premier Ferguson of Ontario, as to the inflexibility of Canada's constitution.

No objection to any necessary amendment of the British North America Act should be taken at the conference of provincial premiers, Mr. Gardiner maintains. "The Act has been amended before; if there is necessity for it, then it will be amended again."

Saskatchewan has no special plans to make at the conference, Mr. Gardiner stated. There are one or two problems of peculiar interest to Saskatchewan that will be discussed with the Federal Government, one of these being the possibility of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police taking over the duties of the provincial force.

In the matter of immigration, Saskatchewan has no fear of any Central European "menace."

"What is the Women's British Immigration Association of Saskatchewan?" he was asked, referring to an organization which recently broadcast an article criticizing the Federal immigration department.

"I never heard of it until I heard it mentioned in the Toronto papers," Mr. Gardiner replied.

In view of allegations as to the reported lack of good farm lands for British immigrants, the Premier was asked if it were true that much of the unoccupied farm lands in Saskatchewan was held by American speculators. He did not think so.

"We have a wild lands tax, and anyone holding unoccupied lands finds it very unprofitable," he said.

"Any Americans holding Saskatchewan land would be only glad to sell it."

The Hudson's Bay Company has a great deal of good land, has it not, and the railroads, don't they get exemption from taxation—as they hold land from settlers?" he was asked.

"They used to be exempt, but not now," was the reply. "The railways, for instance, were exempt for 20 years after they got the land. As a matter of fact they made it forty years by not taking out their profits, until in 1902 the Federal Government took them, so the exemption dated from that time, until 1922. In 1922 we applied the wild lands tax to their unoccupied lands. Now they are glad to rent the lands for grazing for the cost of the taxes."

Heavy Bookings For Grain Via Vancouver

Shipments For Three Months Will Total 36,000,000 Bushels

Vancouver—Oceanside tonnage to carry 36,000,000 bushels of Western Canadian grain to the United Kingdom during the current season has booked for November, December and January, it was announced here. During December alone tonnage for 20,000,000 bushels has been fixed and shipping men believe that the wheat movement during December will require at least one hundred vessels.

During November space for 6,000,000 has been closed while January bookings already total 10,000,000 bushels.

Research Bureau Of Education Urged

Would Develop System Of Instruction

Says Dr. Robert Fletcher

Winnipeg.—Establishment of a permanent research bureau of education for improving the teaching machinery in such a way that the youth of the given time will learn more in the same amount of time, Dr. Robert Fletcher, B.A., LL.D., deputy minister of education for Manitoba, spoke as president at the opening of the fourteenth annual meeting of the Canadian Educational Association here.

Such a bureau would render fine service to the province without encroaching in any way on the special educational prerogatives which belong to each and which all regard as jealousy, declared Dr. Fletcher. He pointed out that the necessity for careful research in both the methods of teaching and the material to be taught was more and more forcing itself upon the attention of educationists.

Noted Author Loses Sight Of Right Eye

Booth Tarkington, Threatened With Blindness, Is Undergoing Treatment

New York—Booth Tarkington, author of "Monsieur Beaucaire," the "Penrod" series of boy stories and many other literary successes in novel, play and short story form, has lost the sight of his right eye and is undergoing treatment at the hands of Dr. John Ray Newcomb, eye specialist of Indianapolis, to save the sight of his left eye, which has been threatened.

Tarkington's eyes were drowned at Cleggan Bay, Conn., to lose their lives and Lazarus.

Lloyd reported that 17 small vessels are destroyed by the gales, which reached a velocity of 90 miles an hour. Officials estimate several thousand homes were wrecked by floods and winds.

"burst a blood vessel, and gradually my eyelids went out," said Mr. Tarkington. "For a time I was threatened by nearsightedness in my left eye, but under strenuous treatment my left eye has improved, and I am now able to use it in my work."

Twenty-nine Million Dollars In Bonds Retired From Revenue

Ottawa—Canada on Nov. 1 redeemed $29 million dollars in 5½ per cent, five-year Victory renewal bonds, Hon. J. Robb, Minister of Finance, announced. The amount represented your revenue. Eight million dollars in treasury notes, which fall due on November 15, will probably also be taken off the market and redeemed from revenue, Mr. Robb intimated.

A further Dominion maturity of sixty-three millions in 5½ per cent. Victory loan is due on December 1.

League Now Virtually Universal In Scope

So Long As Nations Co-Operate Membership Not Essential

Genova, Switzerland.—The League of Nations' dream of universality practically has become a reality. The United States is now participating in virtually all league activities, save those which are political, and the Soviet Government has decided to take part in the league's preparatory disarmament conference.

League observers contend eight years' experience has demonstrated it is unimportant whether nations are members of the International body so long as they willingly cooperate in the league's activities.

Both the Soviet Government and Turkey already are collaborating in the league's economic activities, while Mexico has sent an official observer to the economic conference.

Thus Ecuador is virtually the only nation in the world not yet collaborating and, therefore, the league now regards its activities and influence as virtually universal in scope.

Storm Takes Death Toll

Shipwrecks and Great Loss Of Life On British Isles

London.—The death toll of the recent storms in the British Isles mounted to 71, with news of 50 shipwrecks received in Ireland.

SAYS CONDITIONS IN CANADA ARE NOW EXCELLENT

London—Industrial conditions in Canada are excellent, and the outlook for 1928 is good, said F. W. Field, senior British trade commissioner in Canada, on his arrival at Liverpool aboard the Albertic. He emphasized that there was a marked desire for greater investment in the Dominion on the part of the United Kingdom.

It is probably true to say, concluded Mr. Field, that business men and investors of the United Kingdom have taken a greater interest in Canada this year than in any previous year. The visit of the Prince of Wales and Premier Stanley Baldwin to the Dominion last summer made a deep impression, while the tour made by members of the Empire Mining Congress brought to the attention of mining men and empire capitalists the valuable resources of Canada.

"We English call it 'Mowgli,' Finance. The amount of money required for the construction of the National Railways and the like, which was temporarily held up because of damage by dynamite, all mines were again holding coal."

The men gained nothing by the two weeks' strike and lost a lot of money in wages, between $90 and 1,000 men were affected. The mines will continue working under open shop conditions, the miners failing to receive recognition of their union, for which they went on strike.

Mexico City.—Sir Henry W. Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, has been invited to come to Mexico City to study the financial condition of the National Railways and suggest a plan for their reconstruction for the purpose of getting on a paying basis, the Mexican treasury department has announced officially. The invitation was extended to Sir Henry by President Calles.

Windsor Greets Windsor

Although the Fates decreed that Windsor, Ontario, should not be allowed to send by air an expression of its best wishes to Windsor, England, yet the inhabitants of the English town were apparently determined that a message of goodwill should not go unanswered. Among the Canadian Pacific Co.'s shipments aboard the "Montclare" recently was to be found this expression of friendship in the form of a shield of oak made from the Windsor Forest where many Canadians were encamped during the Great War. The shield bears the municipal arms of the Royal and ancient town of the Canadian city by Lucien Paquet, acting High Commissioner for Canada. A cablegram of thanks from C. E. Jackson, Mayor of Windsor, Ontario, was read on the occasion.
